

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT: Due to planned construction, we will not host artists in residency this year, 2020. Info below. We'll post progress photos on our IG, please follow us there @skymarysky and sign up for email updates. Thank you for your interest in Mary Sky, we couldn't do it without you! Please check our website for 2021 residency updates.

Hiking Trails to Sculptures & Installations

While many fine art destinations feature traditional development, Mary Sky's facilities are being constructed on a cleared half-acre plot amidst 25 mountainous acres of private land & abutting 200,000 acres of national forest lands. This approach will allow us to build a permaculture system that keeps the wildlands wild, and integrates fine art with our community values.

Patron House

Our modern and luxurious patron house will allow art-lovers the chance to visit and support our programs year round, while enjoying the tasteful beauty of their surroundings in a blissful retreat atmosphere. Mary Sky will never charge artists for resident stays or to show their work. Period.

Studio Space

Our facility plan features an approx. 300 sq ft indoor studio and workshop space that each resident will have full access to during their stay.

Office Facilities

The second floor of the studio building is dedicated to Global HQ offices of Mary Sky.

Gallery

Next door to the studio, our traditional "white wall" gallery space will house seasonal exhibitions to complement the permanent and temporary landscape-integrated works.

Additional Cabins

While these won't be part of the 2020 construction project, we plan to ultimately dot the landscape with more artist cabins, allowing us to host more than one resident at a time, while keeping our commitment to give our artists the space to think, live and work alone, away from the pressures of everyday life.
